Our Studio may be small in size, but big in laughs

New York, NY – November 12, 2014 – Our Studio is a new comedic web series about newlyweds and their cat living in a studio apartment in New York City, and the friends they know and meet. The first episode premiered on October 20th with a new episode released every Monday via their website (ourstudiowebseries.com) and YouTube.

Adam Rini (Voyage Trekkers) directs, edits and stars in the series. His wife and co-creator, Megan Hughes (Hotel Pennsylvania) stars and produces. The crew is a talented duo of emerging filmmakers, Derek Shane Garcia & Daniel Bida. Both attended SUNY Purchase's film school. The cast is an awesome collection of actors and artists, many of whom have their MFA in Acting from the New School for Drama.

Our Studio is an honest and hilarious look at the lives of twenty- to thirty-somethings as they navigate life in the huge and often intimidating New York City where living spaces are of small proportions and the characters' dreams are larger than life.

Rini and Hughes funded the series through an IndieGoGo campaign they set up in place of a registry for their October 20th, 2013 wedding. They were happy to premiere the first episode exactly one year later and were inspired to create Our Studio after living in a couple of studios in Harlem. The first studio was only 240 sq. ft. and their current studio feels much larger at 270 sq. ft. The 30 additional square footage allows them to have two windows and a closet!
